

Our challenge

In Tajikistan there are many young people who have ideas regarding community development. Since there is a belief of older generation that youth is not experienced, their ideas are not valued and supported. Debate is great platform for students to use their critical thinking and express their opinions on issues that community faces. Young Debater School (YDS) is the platform for youth where they can express their opinion regarding topics. Moreover, they are able to create their own initiatives to develop their communities.

Goal Statement

- Hold debate training for 40 students, ages 12-18, grades 6-11.
- Inform students about opportunities (conferences, debate tournaments, MUN).
- Provide students with grants for organizing their own initiatives.

Target group

High school and university students with English or Russian language.
